

CITES TREE SPECIES PROGRAMME

On 14 July 2017, the Secretariat and the European Commission announced the financial contribution of 8 million Euro by the European Union (EU) towards a project entitled: Supporting sustainable management of endangered tree species and conservation of the African Elephant. The CITES Tree Species Programme will support Parties that export valuable parts and derivatives of CITES-listed tree species by providing direct financial assistance and capacity building to Parties in taking conservation and management measures to ensure that their trade in timber, bark, extracts and other products from CITES-listed tree species is sustainable, legal and traceable. The programme aims to improve and strengthen forest governance, enforcement capacity to ensure benefit from long-term and contribute to the rural development in often remote areas, sustainable economic growth at a country level and long-term poverty alleviation.

CITES Tree Species Programme Regional Meeting for Asia
25 to 29 June 2018
Yogyakarta - Indonesia

Milena Sosa Schmidt

Dalbergia oliveri (Flowers) photo: Nguyen Manh Ha

Aquilaria malaccensis (Flowers) photo: Kah Hoo Lau

Osyris lanceolata

Dalbergia oliveri (Fruits) photo: Luu Hong Truong

Dalbergia latifolia (Young trees) photo: TD Atikah

Gyrinops spp

Dalbergia cochinchinensis

UNITED NATIONS